

Urban Studies Workshop Series Autumn 2013

The Workshops are held on Mondays from 1-2pm in the Urban Studies Boardroom at 29 Bute Gardens. All are welcome and please feel free to bring some lunch.

- 16th Sept Takahiro Domen (School of Social Science, Hitotsubashi University)
Community Engagement on Public Lands in Edinburgh and Nerima Ward of Tokyo
- 7th Oct James White (Urban Studies)
Challenging the Rule of Experts: A Participatory Urban Design Competition on Toronto's Waterfront
- 14th Oct John Kerr (Learning Innovation Officer)
Turnitin Training
- 21st Oct Roona Simpson (Sociology, University of Glasgow)
Family and Place in the Residential Strategies of Working Age Adults Living Alone
- 28th Oct Moira Munro and Mhairi MacKenzie (Urban Studies)
Candidacy for Higher Education
- 4th Nov Breannon Babel (First year review, Urban Studies)
Is proportionate universalism a useful concept for primary care policy and practice?
- 11th Nov Georgiana Varna (Scottish Cities Knowledge Centre)
How truly public are our public spaces? A case study comparative approach between Scotland and Finland
- 18th Nov Claire Bynner (Urban Studies)
Super-diversity, social relations and trust: The case of a Glasgow Neighbourhood
- 25th Nov Phil Mason (Urban Studies)
TBC
- 2nd Dec John Parr (Urban Studies)
'Space, the Regional Economy and Regional Policy'
- 9th Dec Keith Kintrea (Urban Studies)
Those Outer Cities: Exploring the Present and Future of Non-Central Glasgow

The Urban Studies workshop series is intended to provide an informal and supportive space in which people with an interest in urban issues can develop their ideas and get feedback on work in progress. If you might be interested in presenting a workshop session please contact Lucy Hewitt (lucy.hewitt@glasgow.ac.uk) or Emma Jackson (emma.jackson.2@glasgow.ac.uk)

Urban Studies Workshop Series Summer 2013

The Workshops are held on Mondays from 1-2pm in the Urban Studies Boardroom at 29 Bute Gardens. All are welcome and please feel free to bring some lunch.

- 15th April David Donnison (Urban Studies)
Speaking to power: how can a nation get the most effective contributions to policy analysis and debate from its academics?
- 22nd April Ryan McAllister (Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organisation, Dutton Park, Australia)
Evaluating policy networks for science impact: climate change adaptation in South East Queensland
- 29th April David Webster (Urban Studies)
From insurance scheme to penal system: the Jobseeker's Allowance sanctions regime in historical perspective
- 13th May Roona Simpson (Sociology, University of Glasgow)
Family and place in the residential strategies of working age adults living alone
- 20th May First year PhD reviews (this session will run from 1-3pm)
Maureen Kidd, Expanding horizons? Investigating the influence of the Commonwealth Games 2014 Legacy for young people in the East End of Glasgow
Sarah Longlands, The growth prerogative: challenging growth's privileged position in spatial planning
Kainde Manji, Understanding the impacts of austerity and welfare reform on disabled people living in Scotland
Steve Rolfe, Assessing the outcomes of community involvement in local government
- 3rd June Christopher Bunn (Institute of Health and Wellbeing)
Faith, welfare and regeneration in urban Britain
- 10th June Phil Mason (Urban Studies)
Moving home, shifting lifestyles: are there health behaviour consequences from being relocated from restructured neighbourhoods?
- 17th June David Adams (Urban Studies)
Scottish land reform review

The Urban Studies workshop series is intended to provide an informal and supportive space in which people with an interest in urban issues can develop their ideas and get feedback on work in progress. If you might be interested in presenting a workshop session please contact Lucy Hewitt (lucy.hewitt@glasgow.ac.uk) or Emma Jackson (emma.jackson.2@glasgow.ac.uk)

Urban Studies Workshop Series
Spring 2013

The Workshops are held on Mondays from 1-2pm in the Urban Studies Boardroom at 29 Bute Gardens. All are welcome and please feel free to bring some lunch.

- 14th Jan Cindy Gray (Institute for Health and Wellbeing)
Health Behaviour Change - reaching the 'hard-to-reach'
- 21st Jan Ya Ping Wang (Urban Studies)
Trend of urbanization in China: challenges and opportunities for social research
- 28th Jan Amin Kamete (Urban Studies)
Against the poor? On planning, informality and the polis in the global south
- 4th Feb Gwilym Pryce (Urban Studies)
An Overview of the ESRC Urban Segmentation and Inequality Research Project (USIRP)
- 18th Feb Julie Clark (Urban Studies)
GoWell: Studying Change in Glasgow's East End
- 25th Feb John Walls (Urban planner / RTPI Scottish Executive Committee)
Development Drivers and Quirky Historic Districts, South Beach, Miami
- 4th Mar Dennis Rodgers (Urban Studies)
The moral economy of murder: from 'bare life' to 'bare death' in gangland Nicaragua
- 11th Mar Wenjie Wu (Urban Studies)
New rail infrastructure: the happiness effects
- 18th Mar Darja Reuschke (Centre for Housing Research, University of St Andrews)
Housing assets and small firms - connections and policy implications

The Workshops are held on Mondays from 1-2pm in the Urban Studies Boardroom at 29 Bute Gardens. All are welcome. The workshop series is intended to provide an informal and supportive space in which people with an interest in urban issues can develop their ideas and get feedback on work in progress. If you are interested in presenting a workshop session please contact Lucy Hewitt (lucy.hewitt@glasgow.ac.uk) or Emma Jackson (emma.jackson.2@glasgow.ac.uk)

Urban Studies Workshop Series
Autumn 2012

The Workshops are held on Mondays from 1-2pm in the Urban Studies Boardroom at 29 Bute Gardens. All are welcome and please feel free to bring some lunch.

- 1st Oct Bor-Ming Hsieh (Dept of Land Management and Development, Chang Jung University, Taiwan)
The relationship of the household's housing affordability and housing subsidies: a comparison of metropolitan areas between Great Britain and Taiwan.
- 8th Oct Lei Zhai (Public Administration Department, Zhou Enlai School of Government, Nankai University, China)
Project oriented organization of local government in China.
- 22nd Oct James White (Urban Studies)
Designing Toronto's waterfront: research results and reflects.
- 29th Oct Ken Gibb and Moira Munro (Urban Studies)
Publishing in academic journals: the perspective of journal editors.
- 5th Nov John Lord (Yellow Book)
The Changing Geography of Everyday Life.
- 12th Nov Kristian Ruming (Department of Environment and Geography, Macquarie University, Australia)
What's is a name? Unpacking the discourses of housing constructed under the Nation Building Economic Stimulus Plan, Australia
- 19th Nov Ken Gibb (Urban Studies)
Is necessity the mother of innovation? Assessing the Scottish challenge fund for innovative affordable housing
- 26th Nov Ken Gibb and Gwilym Pryce (Urban Studies) and the Glasgow Social Statistics Group
Measuring causality in social science: are quasi-experiments the answer?
This workshop will take place in the Urban Studies Teaching Room, 1-2:30pm
- 3rd Dec Annette Hastings, Nick Bailey and Maria Gannon (Urban Studies)
The impact of cuts to local government spending.
- 10th Dec Lisa Bradley (Urban Studies)
The Medium and the Message: exploring the role of manifest form in the production of academic knowledge

The Workshops are held on Mondays from 1-2pm in the Urban Studies Boardroom at 29 Bute Gardens. All are welcome. The workshop series is intended to provide an informal and supportive space in which people with an interest in urban issues can develop their ideas and get feedback on work in progress. If you might be interested in presenting a workshop session please contact Lucy Hewitt (lucy.hewitt@glasgow.ac.uk) or Emma Jackson (emma.jackson.2@glasgow.ac.uk)

Urban Studies Workshop Series
Summer 2012

The Workshops are held on Mondays from 1-2pm in the Urban Studies Boardroom at 29 Bute Gardens. All are welcome and please feel free to bring some lunch.

- 23rd April Janice Barry (Urban Studies)
Adaptive collaborative arrangements and rigid 'texts'? Aboriginal peoples and strategic natural resource planning in British Columbia, Canada
- 14th May Emmanuelle Lenel (Economic, Social and Political Sciences, Facultés Universitaires Saint-Louis, Brussels)
The effect of regeneration policies on neighbourhoods in central Brussels.
- 21st May First year review presentations (1 - 3 pm)
Anna Cunningham
Common wealth or common sense? What do the 2014 Games really promise Glasgow? A test case for realist synthesis
Claire Bynner
Super-diversity, social cohesion and the neighbourhood
Ross Morris
The privatisation of welfare: private sector involvement in the provision of homelessness services
Louise Sheridan
From Brazil With Love: How do Paulo Freire's ideas translate in practice with young people in a Scottish context?
- 28th May Emma Jackson (Urban Studies)
Neither 'Deepest, Darkest Peckham' nor SE22: The middle classes and their 'others' in an inner London neighbourhood.
- 11th June Gwilym Pryce (Urban Studies)
Urban segmentation and inequality
- 18th June John Parr (Urban Studies)
The City and the Region: Is the Difference Important?

The Urban Studies workshop series is intended to provide an informal and supportive space in which people with an interest in urban issues can develop their ideas and get feedback on work in progress. If you might be interested in presenting a workshop session please contact Lucy Hewitt (lucy.hewitt@glasgow.ac.uk) or Emma Jackson (emma.jackson.2@glasgow.ac.uk)

Urban Studies Workshop Series
Spring 2012

The Workshops are held on Mondays from 1-2pm in the Urban Studies Boardroom at 29 Bute Gardens. All are welcome and please feel free to bring some lunch.

- 9th January Jane Duckett (Scottish Centre for Chinese Social Science Research)
Doing public policy research in China.
- 23rd January David Webster (Urban Studies)
Explaining Glasgow's high rate of sickness benefit claims: health or labour market factors?
- 30th January David Adams (Urban Studies)
Smart parcelisation: reconciling development and design priorities.
- 6th February Andrew Lyon (International Futures Forum)
City responses to living through a change of age.
- 20th February Nick Bailey and Maria Gannon (Urban Studies)
Attitudes to inequality.
- 5th March Husam Al Waer (University of Dundee)
Planning and designing future sustainable communities: a new approach and methodology for delivering better places & masterplanning-SuBETOOL framework.
- 12th March Lucy Hewitt (Urban Studies)
'Civic practice or professional technique? Exploring the use of social mapping by Britain's early planners'
- 19th March Ellie Conway (Urban Studies)
Women, domestic abuse policy and the asylum system in Scotland.

The Urban Studies workshop series is intended to provide an informal and supportive space in which people with an interest in urban issues can develop their ideas and get feedback on work in progress. If you might be interested in presenting a workshop session please contact Julie Clark or Janice Barry: julie.clark@glasgow.ac.uk ; janice.barry@glasgow.ac.uk

Urban Studies Workshop Series
Autumn 2011

The Workshops are held on Mondays from 1-2pm in the Urban Studies Boardroom at 29 Bute Gardens. All are welcome and please feel free to bring some lunch.

- 19th Sept Roba Shaheen (First Year Review, Urban Studies)
'The use and perception of environmental strategies and technologies within interior design practice.'
- 3rd Oct Brian Doucet (Utrecht University)
'Rich cities with poor people: waterfront regeneration in the Netherlands and Scotland'
- 10th Oct Annette Hastings (Urban Studies) & Peter Matthews (Heriot Watt)
'"Sharp elbows": Do the middle-classes have advantages in public service provision and if so how?'
- 24th Oct Ken Gibb (Urban Studies)
'Behavioural economics and housing - exploring a research agenda'
- 31st Oct John McLaren (Urban Studies/Economics)
'The extent of the financial challenge facing the public sector in Scotland, post the 2011 Scottish spending review'
- 14th Nov Simon Pinnegar (University of New South Wales)
TBC
- 21st Nov Lisa Bradley (Urban Studies), Annette Hastings (Urban Studies) & Rebecca Madgin (Centre for Urban History, University of Leicester)
'The Impact of Large Scale Regeneration on Young People's Attachment to Place'
- 28th Nov Jane Duckett (Scottish Centre for Chinese Social Science Research)
'Doing public policy research in China'
- 5th Dec Filippo Trevisan (Urban Studies)
'Disabled Dissent Goes Online: The case of opposition groups to disability welfare cuts in the UK'

The Workshops are held on Mondays from 1-2pm in the Urban Studies Boardroom at 29 Bute Gardens. All are welcome. The workshop series is intended to provide an informal and supportive space in which people with an interest in urban issues can develop their ideas and get feedback on work in progress. If you might be interested in presenting a workshop session please contact Julie Clark or Janice Barry: julie.clark@glasgow.ac.uk ; janice.barry@glasgow.ac.uk