University of Glasgow | Centre for American Studies

Seminar Series 2014/15

Seminars are usually held at 5.15pm

Wednesday 1st October 2014 Dr. Frances Fowle (Scottish National Gallery)
'American Impressionism: artistic networks in nineteenth-century Paris'
(To coincide with 'American Impressionism: A New Vision', at Scottish National Gallery until 19th October)
5.15pm, Room 208, 2 University Gardens

Thursday 2nd October 2014 Dr. Marian Lauret (University of Sussex)
'Really Reading Junot Diaz: Literature of the "new immigration"'
5.15pm, Room 202, 4 University Gardens (English Literature speaker series)

Wednesday 8th October 2014 Prof. Akram Khater (North Carolina State University)
'Little Syria: The first Arab American Community in New York City'
5.15pm, Room 208, 2 University Gardens

Wednesday 22nd October 2014 Dr. Anthony Stanonis (Queens University Belfast)
'Feast of the Mau Mau: Christianity, Conjure, and the Origins of Soul Food'
5.15pm, Room 208, 2 University Gardens

Thursday 20th November 2014 Dr. Lloyd Pratt (University of Oxford)
'Heroic Reading in Emerson and Thoreau'
5.15pm, Room 202, 4 University Gardens (English Literature speaker series)

Thursday 4th December 2014 Prof. Philip Horne (University College London)
'Henry James and Emily Dickinson: a Puzzle'
5.15pm, Room 202, 4 University Gardens (English Literature speaker series)

Wednesday 14th January 2015 Dr. Michael Collins (University of Kent)
'Beautiful, Radiant Things: Emma Goldman and American Anarchist Autobiography'
5.15pm, Room 208, 2 University Gardens

Wednesday 28th January 2015 Dr. Jay Sexton (Oxford University)
'The Most Important U.S. company that you have never heard of'
5.15pm, Room 208, 2 University Gardens

Wednesday 11 February 2015 Dr. Zara Dinnen (University of Birmingham)
'Hollywood, Software and the User Gaze'
5.15pm, Room 208, 2 University Gardens

Wednesday 25th February 2015 Dr. Nick Guyatt (University of York)
'Rethinking Black colonization in the early United States'
5.15pm, Room 208, 2 University Gardens

All welcome

Sponsored by the US Embassy

http://www.gla.ac.uk/americanstudies/