

Book LAUNCH

Monday
December 11
4:30 pm - 7:00 pm

“This is an important book. It enriches debates about deindustrialization by taking them in a number of new directions and by probing how the term is understood. Taken together, the chapters offer insightful comparative analyses on issues such as race, gender, gentrification, and the stigmatization of the white working class.”

— Sean O’Connell, professor, School of History and Anthropology, Queen’s University Belfast

University of British Columbia Press, the Scottish Oral History Centre (SOHC) and the Centre for Oral History and Digital Storytelling, Concordia University, cordially invite you to attend the launch of

The Deindustrialized World Confronting Ruination in Postindustrial Places

edited by Steven High, Lachlan MacKinnon, and Andrew Perchard

at the Scottish Oral History Centre
University of Strathclyde
GH221/222 | Graham Hills Building
40 George Street, Glasgow

Presentations by co-editor, Dr Andrew Perchard, University of Stirling and SOHC, and contributors Dr Andy Clark, Newcastle University and SOHC, Dr Jackie Clarke, University of Glasgow, Professor Arthur McIvor, SOHC, and Dr Jim Phillips, University of Glasgow.

To ensure a place at the launch, please email (indicating dietary requirements):

claire.mcconnell@strath.ac.uk

Please note that places will be on a first come, first served basis.

stay connected

www.ubcpres.ca

thought that counts