I Undergraduate Entry to Faculty

Before applying for admission to the Faculty of Law and Financial Studies, all applicants should consult the most recent edition of the University's Undergraduate Prospectus.

The Prospectus sets out the normal qualifications required for admission, describes the application procedure, summarises the Degree regulations and courses offered, and gives general information about the University. It is available in most U.K. schools, or it may be obtained from The Registry, University of Glasgow, Glasgow, Scotland G12 8QQ.

II Appeals by Students

The Senate is charged by the Universities (Scotland) Acts with a duty to superintend the teaching of the University. This is understood to include examining. The Senate has authorised the establishment of Faculty Appeals Committees to hear appeals in the first instance, as specified in the Code of Procedure for Appeals to a Faculty Appeals Committee.

A student may further appeal from the decision of the relevant Faculty Appeals Committee to the Senate.

Any appeal giving all the grounds of that appeal must be despatched in writing to the Clerk of the relevant Faculty, or to the Clerk of Senate, as appropriate, within 14 days of the intimation to the student of the decision against which he or she is appealing.

Students are advised to consult the Clerk of the relevant Faculty before lodging an appeal to the Faculty Appeals Committee and the Head of the Senate Office, before lodging an appeal to the Senate Appeals Committee.

The Code of Procedure for Appeals to a Faculty Appeals Committee and the Code of Procedure for Appeals to the Senate are set out in that section of the University Calendar entitled 'University Fees and General Information for Students', which is available either from the Faculty Office or The Registry enquiry office in the University.

The Faculty Office is located in Room G/28, The Stair Building, 5–9 The Square.

SCHOOL OF FINANCIAL STUDIES

III DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF ACCOUNTANCY

The Degree of BAcc is governed by Resolution 18 of the University Court which came into force on 20th September 1967. The provisions of the Resolution and Regulations, as follows, are subject to approval by the University Court:

1. The degree of Bachelor of Accountancy (BAcc) may be conferred by the University of Glasgow in the Faculty of Law and Financial Studies (the Faculty) as a degree in such designations as may be prescribed by Regulation.
2. The Senate may, with the approval of the University Court, make regulations governing the award of the degree. These shall be stated under 'Regulations' below.
3. Candidates for the degree who do not complete the minimum graduating curriculum for the degree with Honours may be eligible to receive an Ordinary degree.

IV REGULATIONS

1. Duration of Degree Study – Normal and Special Cases

(a) Study in the University of Glasgow

The period of study for the degree with Honours shall normally extend over not fewer than four academic years of full-time study and not more than five years or, where the curriculum consists of, or includes, a period or periods of part-time study, not fewer than five academic years and not more than eight years. The period of study may be reduced in respect of study undertaken for another degree of the University of Glasgow or in another university or institution of higher or further education recognised for the purpose by the University Court. In each case, however, the period of study is subject to the provisions of the following sub-sections.

(b) Recognition of Study in other Faculties, Universities and Institutions of Tertiary Education.

- (i) An undergraduate who has, in the course of study for another degree of the University of Glasgow, satisfactorily completed qualifying modules for the Bachelor of Accountancy degree and who is admitted by transfer to study for the Bachelor of Accountancy, having withdrawn from the other degree, may count the modules as qualifying towards the Bachelor of Accountancy degree.
- (ii) Credits to a maximum of 120, or exceptionally above that, as deemed appropriate by the Faculty of Law and Financial Studies, may count as part of the overall requirements of a minimum graduating curriculum if they have been obtained from:

A course of study for another award of the University of Glasgow;

or

a course of study in another institution of Higher Education, provided that the Senate is satisfied that the standard of the courses for which they were awarded is equivalent to that of qualifying modules for the degree of Bachelor of Accountancy;

or a combination of both.

2. Approval of Curricula

- (a) Every student must have his or her curriculum approved each session by an Adviser of Studies in the Faculty of Law and Financial Studies. Students must follow advising procedures currently in place in the Faculty of Law and Financial Studies.
- (b) A student shall not normally be permitted to enrol in a module after two weeks of teaching in that module have elapsed.
- (c) A student may not be enrolled concurrently for another degree or academic or professional qualification without the permission of the Faculty of Law and Financial Studies.

3. Minimum Requirements for the Award of a Degree.

The minimum requirements for the award of a degree, hereafter referred to as a minimum graduating curriculum, are expressed in terms of (a) credit bearing qualifying modules at various levels and (b) modules relating to the various degrees.

(a) Credit-bearing qualifying modules

- (i) A qualifying module shall carry the credits as determined in the Undergraduate Course Catalogue and Departmental Course Documentation.
- (ii) A minimum graduating curriculum shall carry credits totalling at least 480. At least 120 of these shall be at Level 2 and at least 180 shall be at Level 3/4.
- (iii) A normal full-time student work load shall normally consist of qualifying modules totalling approximately 120 credits per academic session. The full-time student work load per academic session shall be no less than 100 credits. The maximum part-time student work load per academic session shall be 80 credits.

(b) Grades

- (i) A student's assessed performance in each qualifying module shall be graded. Credits will be given only for assessments at a minimum of Grade D or above.

Level 1/2 Grade	Grade Descriptor	Level 3/4 Grade
A	Excellent	First
B	Very Good	Upper Second
C	Good	Lower Second
D	Satisfactory	Third
E	Weak Fail	Weak fail
F	Poor Fail	Poor Fail
G	Very Poor Fail	Very Poor Fail
N	No Credit	No Credit

- (ii) Where a student has enrolled for a qualifying module but has not met the minimum requirement for the award of credits (see para 4 below), no credit shall be awarded.
- (iii) A minimum graduating curriculum shall consist of qualifying modules, which carry credits totalling at least 360, obtained at Grade D or above, for the award of an Ordinary degree, and a minimum of 480 credits, obtained at Grade D or above, for the award of an Honours degree. In the Honours examination there shall be three classes of Honours, but the examiners may, in their discretion, divide the second class into two divisions. The names of the candidates placed in each class shall be arranged in alphabetical order. The Honours classification will normally be based on Level 3/4 modules but in assessing the merit of a candidate for the degree with Honours, the examiners may have regard to his or her performance not only in Level 3/4 modules but also in all the other modules of his or her curriculum.
- (iv) The Ordinary degree may be awarded with distinction or Merit as determined by the Board of Examiners.

(c) Year Abroad

The Head of Department may approve a course of study for the duration of one year or one term/semester at a recognised institution outside the United Kingdom. Such a course of study shall attract a maximum of 120 credits for the full year and a maximum of 60 credits for the one term/semester duration. The Head of Department, in consultation with the Senior Adviser of Studies, shall determine which courses/modules shall be undertaken outside the United Kingdom, and in the case of a Socrates exchange scheme ensure compliance with the European Credit Transfer System (ECTS).

4. Minimum Requirement for the Award of Credits

(a) Specific Instructions

The appropriate Head of Department shall prescribe specific instructions for each qualifying module. Such instructions may require students: to attend specified lectures, tutorials, laboratory or practical sessions and other events; to provide themselves with such books, equipment and other materials as are necessary for the module; to submit items of work, including essays, dissertations and project reports and computer based assignments, by such dates as may be instructed. All such instructions shall be provided for students by the beginning of the module. Reasonable notice of any alteration to them will also be given.

(b) Minimum Requirement for the Award of Credits

The minimum requirement for the award of credits for a module shall be specified by the appropriate Head of Department and provided for students by the beginning of the module. This requirement shall normally include a specified minimum level of compliance with specific instructions in terms of attendance and completion of work and a specified minimum level of performance in examinations including the end-of-module examination (if any) and other assessed work. Normally no credits shall be awarded to a candidate who does not meet this minimum requirement.

5. Designated Degrees

From time to time, further designations and combinations of qualifying modules may be added to those listed.

B Acc

The Bachelor of Accountancy degree aims to enable students to develop their understanding of accountancy and finance with the cognate disciplines of economics and law.

B Acc with Language

The Bachelor of Accountancy with Language degree aims to enable students to develop their understanding of accountancy and finance with the cognate disciplines of economics and law and allowing specialist study of a language other than English.

B Acc with Finance

The Bachelor of Accountancy with Finance degree aims to enable students to develop their understanding of accountancy and finance with the cognate disciplines of economics and law and allowing additional specialist study of finance.

B Acc with International Accounting

The Bachelor of Accountancy with International Accounting degree aims to enable students to develop their understanding of accountancy and finance with the cognate disciplines of economics and law and allowing specialist study in international accounting and language.

B Acc and Economics

The Bachelor of Accountancy joint degree with Economics aims to enable students to develop their understanding of accountancy and finance combined with advanced specialist study in Economics.

6. List of Recognised Qualifying Modules

The recognised qualifying modules for the degree, offered by Faculties of this University, shall be as set out in Section V below.

7. Approval of Qualifying and Designated Modules

- (a) Subject to the approval of the Senate, the Faculty of Law and Financial Studies and other appropriate faculties shall approve and recognise qualifying modules and designated modules relating to each designated degree.
- (b) Modules will normally consist of approximately 10 hours of study time for each unit of credit available from the module; consisting of attendance at lectures, tutorials, seminars and other classes, directed and private reading, use of computer based or other learning materials, and the preparation of course assignments.

8. Conditions Governing Qualifying Modules

Subject to the approval of the Senate, the Faculty of Law and Financial Studies and other appropriate faculties may prescribe:

- (a) that two qualifying modules may not both form part of a minimum graduating curriculum.
- (b) prerequisites and corequisites and other conditions for admission to qualifying modules.
- (c) that a qualifying module shall not be available to students in a specific year of study.

9. Fulfilment of Prerequisites

- (a) Except as provided for in (b) below, a qualifying module shall not normally form part of a minimum graduating curriculum unless, before admission to it, a student has met such prerequisites, corequisites or any other condition for entry as may be stipulated.
- (b) Exceptionally, and where there is good academic reason, the appropriate Head of Department may, at his or her discretion, admit to a qualifying module a student who has not fulfilled the normal prerequisite(s) or corequisite(s) for that qualifying module, if the student has satisfactorily completed qualifying modules at the University in another related subject or other related subjects, or if the student provides other evidence of suitability for admission to the module.

10. Assessment

Approval of Schemes of Assessment Relating to Modules

At the start of each session, the schemes of assessment for each new qualifying module and any major changes in the previous session's schemes shall be approved by the BAcc Board of Studies and by the Faculty of Law and Financial Studies and the Senate. The schemes of assessment must specify the number and duration of written papers to be taken at the regular diets of examination, the nature of other assessment instruments and the relative weight to be attached to those assessments.

11. Reassessment in a Module

Candidates shall normally be required to sit any end-of-module examination for a module at the first available diet after completion of the module. There will not normally be any resit examination in Level 3/4 modules taken at Honours level. Any other candidate entitled to sit the end-of-module examination shall be entitled to resit the examination, but normally only once and at the next available diet. A candidate who does not attend that examination without good cause at the first diet, shall for the purposes of these regulations have the same entitlement as a student who attends the examination and is awarded a zero mark.

12. Progress of Students

(a) Annual Review

The progress of all students is subject to annual review.

(b) Exclusion or Suspension from Study

The Faculty of Law and Financial Studies may at its discretion exclude or suspend from attendance students whose progress is unsatisfactory, provided that the rules relating to unsatisfactory progress shall have been approved by Faculty and the Senate and published in the University Calendar.

(c) Progress Rules: Full-time Students

- (i) A candidate will normally be required to repeat attendance on modules previously attended in which he or she has failed to obtain Grade D or above. The candidate will be permitted to take only such further modules as the Faculty may permit, unless he or she has obtained credits as noted below:

After one year of attendance	80 credits	Including at least two modules from Finance 1, Financial Accounting 1 and Management Accounting 1 passed at Grade D or above.
After two years of attendance	160 credits	Including Finance 1, Financial Accounting 1, Management Accounting 1 and at least two modules from Finance 2, Financial Accounting 2 and Management Accounting 2 passed at Grade D or above.
After three years of attendance	240 credits	Including all Level 1 and Level 2 modules (with the exception of Taxation) passed at Grade D or above.

- (ii) A candidate will normally be required to discontinue studies for the degree unless he or she has obtained degree examination passes at Grade D or above equivalent to at least 60 credits in the first year, at least 90 credits in each subsequent year of attendance and has passed the degree examinations in Finance 1, Financial Accounting 1 and Management Accounting 1 before the end of his or her second year of study and Finance 2, Financial Accounting 2 and Management Accounting 2 before the end of his or her third year of study.

(d) Progress Rules: Part-time Students

- (i) A candidate will normally be required to repeat attendance on modules previously attended in which he or she has failed to obtain Grade D or above. The candidate will be permitted to take only such further modules as the Faculty may permit, unless he or she has obtained credits as noted below:

After one year of attendance	40 credits	Including at least one module from Finance 1, Financial Accounting 1 and Management Accounting 1 passed at Grade D or above.
After two years of attendance	90 credits	Including at least two modules from Finance 1, Financial Accounting 1 and Management Accounting 1 passed at Grade D or above.
After three years	140 credits	Including Finance 1, Financial Accounting 1, Management Accounting 1 and at least one module from Finance 2, Financial Accounting 2 and Management Accounting 2 passed at Grade D or above.

After four years	190 credits	Including Finance 1, Financial Accounting 1, Management Accounting 1 and at least two modules from Finance 2, Financial Accounting 2 and Management Accounting 2 passed at Grade D or above.
After five years of attendance	240 credits	Including all Level 1 and Level 2 modules (with the exception of Taxation) passed at Grade D or above.

- (ii) A candidate will normally be required to discontinue studies for the degree unless he or she has obtained degree examination passes at Grade D or above equivalent to at least 30 credits in the first year, at least 40 credits in each subsequent year of attendance and has passed the degree examinations in Finance 1, Financial Accounting 1 and Management Accounting 1 before the end of his or her third year of study and Finance 2, Financial Accounting 2 and Management Accounting 2 before the end of his or her fifth year of study.

(e) Certificate of Basic IT Competence

Every student must normally obtain the Certificate of Basic IT Competence in his or her first year of study in order to qualify for an award covered by these regulations.

(f) Certificate of Higher Education (Accountancy)

A candidate who has completed courses totalling at least 120 credits with Grades of D or above shall be eligible to receive the Certificate of Higher Education in Accountancy. Candidates who proceed to a degree in any faculty will not be eligible for a Certificate.

(g) Diploma of Higher Education (Accountancy)

A candidate who has completed courses totalling at least 240 credits with Grades D or above shall be eligible to receive the Diploma of Higher Education in Accountancy. Candidates who proceed to a degree in any faculty will not be eligible for a Diploma.

13. Appeals against Decisions relating to the Progress of Studies

- (a) The exclusion of a student, or the suspension of a student from full-time or part-time attendance, must be confirmed by the Faculty of Law and Financial Studies. Students liable to be excluded or suspended shall be informed of this in writing. Any candidate may appeal against the application of the progress regulations; such appeal is to the Faculty Appeals Committee. Notification, in writing, of appeal by a candidate should normally be received by the Faculty Secretary at least five days before the published date of the meeting of the Appeals Committee and must include the grounds upon which the appeal is based. An appellant may be accompanied at the hearing of the appeal by an Adviser of Studies or some other appropriate person. The Committee's Code of Procedure is available from the Faculty Office or from the Senate website at <http://www.gla.ac.uk/calendar/>

- (b) In exceptional circumstances, and after consideration of all the relevant evidence, it shall be open to the Faculty Appeals Committee to permit a student to repeat a full-time year, in which case he or she may be subject to the minimum requirements for progress of the particular year of the degree curriculum which has been repeated (see 12 (c) (i) and (ii) above).

V LIST OF QUALIFYING AND DESIGNATED MODULES

Availability of Modules

- (i) A module may not be available in each session. It may be necessary to restrict entry to a module, or to withdraw a module in the light of staff changes, or if it is under-subscribed, or for other good reason. Full details relating to individual modules – times of meetings, requirements, assessment, etc. are available from the Department of Accounting and Finance, or the appropriate department offering the module. The details of the Department of Accounting and Finance modules are available from the Department's website at <http://www.gla.ac.uk/departments/accounting/index.html>
- (ii) Additional qualifying modules may be added to these lists. Further information may be obtained from the Department of Accounting and Finance or from the Department's website (see above).
- (iii) In some of the BAcc degrees, general modules may be required to be selected from the Undergraduate Course Catalogue, other than those already specified in Levels 1, 2, 3/4. The courses are subject to availability, agreed access from the host department and the approval of the appropriate Head of Department.
- (iv) Where a student transfers between the various B Acc degrees at any time during his/her course of study, the credits obtained in modules taken and passed under the common University code may be transferred to the same Level within the degree.

SCHOOLS OF LAW AND FINANCIAL STUDIES

IV Degree of Bachelor of Financial and Legal Studies (BFLS)

The Degree of Bachelor of Financial and Legal Studies is governed by Resolution No. 456 of the University Court which came into force on 20th May, 1998. The following are the relevant provisions:

1. The Degree of Bachelor of Financial and Legal Studies may be conferred by the University of Glasgow in the Faculty of Law and Financial Studies (the Faculty) either as an Ordinary degree, or as a degree with Honours in such subjects as may be prescribed by regulation. A Certificate of Higher Education or Diploma of Higher Education may be conferred on a student who is not awarded a degree.
2. (1) The curriculum for the Degree of Bachelor of Financial and Legal Studies shall extend over not fewer than three academic sessions of full-time study. The curriculum for the Degree of Bachelor of Financial and Legal Studies with Honours shall normally extend over not fewer than four academic sessions of full-time study.

(2) Up to one year of the relevant period of study may be undertaken elsewhere than in the University of Glasgow and treated as study in the University of Glasgow, subject to such conditions as the Faculty may prescribe in individual cases.

(3) The period of study may be reduced in respect of such study undertaken for another degree of the University of Glasgow or in another university or institution of higher education recognised for the purpose by the University Court.
3. A Bachelor of Financial and Legal Studies of the University of Glasgow may, under conditions prescribed by the Senate, be admitted to the final examination at the Honours standard in a subject or subjects recognised for the study of the Degree of Bachelor of Financial and Legal Studies with Honours and if he or she is awarded honours by the examiners, shall receive a certificate to that effect.

SCHEDULE OF REGULATIONS

1. The curriculum for the Degree of Bachelor of Financial and Legal Studies shall comprise qualifying credit-bearing courses. The minimum requirement for the award of the degree is expressed in terms of courses taken and credits accumulated.
2. The qualifying courses shall be those listed in the following groups:

A total of 360 credits are required for the Ordinary degree.

Departmental Instructions

4. Students shall be required to comply with such departmental instructions as are prescribed by the Head(s) of Department in charge of the course concerned. Such instructions may require students: to attend specified lectures, tutorials, laboratory or practical sessions, field courses, examinations and other events; to provide themselves with such books, equipment and other materials as are necessary for the course; to submit items of work, including essays, dissertations and project reports, by such dates as may be instructed. All such instructions shall be given to the students in writing at the beginning of the course concerned. Reasonable notice of any alteration to them will also be given. A student who fails to comply with departmental instructions may be refused enrolment in and admission to examinations in the course.

Credits and Credit Transfer

5. In order to obtain the credits assigned to a course a candidate must satisfy the conditions regarding coursework and attendance and complete the required assessment, as set out in these Regulations. Partial credit will not be awarded for incomplete courses. A candidate who has not satisfied the conditions regarding coursework and attendance in any course may be excluded from examination (i.e. no class ticket awarded) by the Head of Department.
6. A candidate who has, as part of the curriculum for a degree in another faculty of the University, attended courses and obtained credits which qualify towards the Degree of Bachelor of Legal and Financial Studies, if admitted by transfer to the Faculty of Law and Financial Studies, and if not concurrently seeking a degree in the other faculty, may be permitted to count such attendance given and credits obtained as qualifying towards the Degree of Bachelor of Legal and Financial Studies; and may be exempted by the Faculty of Law and Financial Studies from not more than two years' attendance in the Faculty of Law and Financial Studies, subject to such conditions as the Faculty may prescribe in each case.
7. A candidate who has attended courses and obtained credits in another institution of higher education approved by the University Court on the recommendation of the Senate, may be allowed to count such attendance given and credits obtained as qualifying towards the Degree of Bachelor of Financial and Legal Studies of this University provided that the Senate is satisfied that the content and standard of any course, or combination of courses, and associated credits to be recognised are equivalent to a corresponding course, or combination of courses, and credits qualifying for the Degree of Bachelor of Financial and Legal Studies; but any such candidate shall attend qualifying courses in the University of Glasgow for at least two sessions including the final year of his or her curriculum.
8. A graduate of any other Faculty of the University or of another institution of higher education approved by the University Court on the recommendation of the Senate may be allowed to count such attendance given and credits obtained as qualifying towards the Degree of Bachelor of Financial and Legal Studies provided that:

- (1) the Senate is satisfied that the content and standard of any course, or combination of courses, and associated credits to be recognised are equivalent to a corresponding course, or combination of courses, and credits qualifying for the Degree of Bachelor of Financial and Legal Studies;
 - (2) if admission to an Honours curriculum is sought, recognition is limited to the equivalent of such courses as satisfy the normal requirements of Faculty and departments for admission to Honours;
 - (3) recognition is limited to not more than 240 credits.
9. (1) A candidate may be permitted to study elsewhere within the provisions of a Student Exchange Programme or Credit Transfer Scheme approved by the University Court on the recommendation of the Senate and may be allowed to count courses attended and credits obtained in accordance with such provisions as qualifying towards the Degree of Bachelor of Financial and Legal Studies provided that the Senate has first confirmed the recommendation of the Faculty of Law and Financial Studies that the content and standard of any credit-bearing course be recognised as equivalent to or an approved substitute for a corresponding course and credits qualifying for the Degree of Bachelor of Financial and Legal Studies. Any such study taken overseas shall be limited in duration to one academic session.
- (2) Examinations at the Honours standard taken furth of Scotland within such an approved Student Exchange Programme may constitute part of the final Honours diet, notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the Schedule of Regulations.
10. A candidate who has attended courses and obtained credits in an overseas institution of higher education in satisfaction of the requirements of a twinning or split-degree programme approved by the University Court on the recommendation of the Senate may count such attendance given and credits obtained as qualifying towards the Degree of Bachelor of Financial and Legal Studies in this University and as satisfying the normal requirements of Faculty and departments for admission to Honours, and may, subject to the approval of the Head(s) of Department(s) concerned, enter the third year of a specified course in this University leading to the Degree of Bachelor of Financial and Legal Studies with Honours. Such a candidate who is subsequently not permitted by the Head(s) of Department(s) concerned to enter the Senior Honours year of study may attempt such examinations as are required for completion of the Ordinary Degree of Bachelor of Financial and Legal Studies.
11. In respect of provisions 6–9, where necessary the credits from study outwith the University of Glasgow but counted as qualifying towards the Degree of Bachelor of Financial and Legal Studies, will be determined by the appropriate Head of Department.
12. A scheme of assessment for each subject shall be approved by the Senate.

13. A student's assessed performance in each course shall be expressed in terms of a grade. Grade points shall be awarded on the following basis:

Grade	Grade Descriptor	Grade points (per credit)
A	excellent	16
B	very good	14
C	good	12
D	satisfactory	10
E	weak	8
F	poor	6
G	very poor	2

The grade points for a course shall be the product of the corresponding credits and the grade points per credit awarded. The grade point average is calculated by dividing the sum of grade points awarded by the total number of credits accumulated.

14. A scheme of assessment at the Honours standard shall be approved by the Senate not less than one year before the diet of examination to which it applies; but the Senate may in special circumstances and not later than the end of the academic year before the diet of examinations allow modifications which shall be notified by the appropriate Head of Department concerned to all candidates for Honours in that subject.
15. For courses where there is an end-of-course examination, departments may specify that students who have attained the specified minimum level of compliance with departmental instructions in terms of attendance and completion of work and a specified level of performance in assessed work and examination other than the end-of-course examination, may be exempted from the end-of-course examination and awarded a grade on the basis of the work an examinations completed.
16. Any candidate awarded an exemption at less than Grade A may, nonetheless, sit the end-of-course examination. In such cases, the candidate will be awarded the higher of the two results.
17. (1) Candidates shall normally be required to sit any end-of-course (module) examination at the first available diet after completion of the course (module).
- (2) Assessment shall be conducted in accordance with the prevailing Code for Examinations published in the 'Fees and General Information' section of the University Calendar.
- (3) Except where stated otherwise in the Undergraduate Course Catalogue, full-time candidates for the degree with Honours shall take the final examination at one and the same diet; courses chosen from the Accountancy list of Honours courses (List D) are examined at the end of the Session of study.

- (4) Except with the express approval of the Senate a candidate who has attended for examination in a subject at the Honours standard shall not attend for examination in that subject at a subsequent diet. Examiners shall have the power to require candidates for Honours to attend an oral examination.
18. The Senate, on the recommendation of the Faculty of Law and Financial Studies, shall have power to make and from time to time to amend the scheme of marks to be used by examiners in assessment in the Faculty of Law and Financial Studies.

Student Progress

19. All students in the Faculty of Law and Financial Studies must have their curricula approved by an Adviser of Studies.
20. Unless exception is made in the University's Undergraduate Course Catalogue, progression to a List B course will be granted only to those students awarded grade D or better in the corresponding List A course. Where there are other prerequisites to entry these are stipulated in the Undergraduate Course Catalogue.
21. (1) A candidate may be excluded from examination at any level in a subject by the appropriate Head of Department if the candidate has not satisfied the conditions regarding coursework and attendance as set out in the Departmental Instructions and communicated to students by the Professor or Lecturer in charge of the course at the beginning of the session.
- (2) Such conditions shall conform with principles determined from time to time by the Faculty of Law and Financial Studies subject to the approval of the Senate.
22. (1) The progress of all students is subject to annual review.
- (2) The Faculty of Law and Financial Studies may at its discretion exclude or suspend from attendance students whose progress is unsatisfactory, provided that the rules relating to unsatisfactory progress shall have been approved by Faculty and Senate and published in the University Calendar.
- (3) Progress rules for students at Honours level are stated in Regulations below.
- (4) (i) A candidate will normally be required to repeat attendance on courses previously attended but in which he or she has failed to satisfy the examiners whether or not he or she holds valid course certificates in these courses or any of them, or to take other courses in lieu, and will be permitted to take in addition only such further courses as the Faculty may permit if, after the following periods of attendance, he or she has not obtained at least the following number of degree examination credits, viz.:

after one year:	70 credits at Grade D or better
after two years:	140 credits at Grade D or better
after three years:	210 credits at Grade D or better

- (ii) A candidate will normally be required to discontinue studies for the degree unless he or she has obtained degree examination passes equivalent to at least 40 credits at Grade D or better in first year, at least 80 credits at Grade D or better in each subsequent year of attendance and has passed the Degree Examinations in Financial Accounting 1 and Managerial Accounting 1 before the end of his or her second year of attendance on courses.
 - (iii) Any candidate may appeal against the application of the progress regulations; such appeal is to the Faculty Appeals Committee. Notification, in writing, of appeal by a candidate should normally be received by the Clerk of the Faculty at least five days before the published date of the meeting of the Appeals Committee and must include the grounds upon which the appeal is based. An appellant may be accompanied at the hearing of the appeal by an Adviser of Studies or some other appropriate person. The Committee's code of Procedure is available from the Faculty Office.
- (5) Every candidate must normally obtain the Certificate of Basic IT Competence in his or her first year of study in order to progress to subsequent years of study.
23. A student who is excluded from further study in the Faculty of Law and Financial Studies under Regulation 21 may appeal to the Faculty Appeals Committee.

Certificate of Higher Education (Law and Financial Studies)

24. (1) A candidate who has completed courses totalling at least 120 credits at grade D or better shall be eligible to receive the Certificate of Higher Education (Law and Financial Studies). Students who proceed to a diploma or degree will not receive a certificate.
- (2) The Certificate of Higher Education (Law and Financial Studies) shall be awarded with Merit where the average grade over the courses being counted for the award of the certificate is B with no grade below D, and with Distinction where the average grade over the courses being counted for the award of the certificate is A.

Diploma of Higher Education (Law and Financial Studies)

25. (1) A candidate who has completed courses totalling at least 240 credits, where a minimum of 60 credits have been gained from List B, and with no grade below D, shall be eligible to receive the Diploma of Higher Education (Law and Financial Studies). Students who proceed to a degree will not receive a certificate

(2) The Diploma of Higher Education (Law and Financial Studies) shall be awarded with Merit where the average grade over the courses being counted for the award of the Diploma is B with no grade below D, and with Distinction where the average grade over the courses being counted for the award of the diploma is A with no grade below D.

Degree of Bachelor of Financial and Legal Studies

26. A minimum graduating curriculum for the Degree of Financial and Legal Studies must include qualifying courses comprising:
- (1) a total minimum of 360 credits, including all courses in List A, at grade D or better
 - (2) a minimum of 30 credits from Accountancy and Finance courses in List B at grade D or better
 - (3) a minimum of 30 credits from Law courses in List B at grade D or better
 - (4) a maximum of 30 credits from List C at grade D or better
27. The Degree of Bachelor of Financial and Legal Studies may be awarded with distinction or merit. Distinction will be awarded to candidates achieving an average grade of A, with no grade less than D. Merit will be awarded to those candidates achieving an average grade B, with no grade less than D. Candidates for the award of Distinction or Merit must complete the degree within three years.

Degree of Bachelor of Financial and Legal Studies with Honours

28. (1) Every curriculum for the Honours degree shall have not less than 480 credits which shall include the courses in List A (235 credits) and a minimum of 65 credits from the courses in Lists B/C.
- (2) In addition, every curriculum shall include further courses from the following Lists D and E to a total of 150 credits upon which the Honours classification will normally be based, with a minimum of 60 credits from each of Lists D and E. There shall be a compulsory Honours dissertation of 30 credits.
- (3) No course from Lists D and E may be taken if it has already been selected from List B.
- (4) The Honours dissertation shall be selected on a subject approved by the appropriate Head of Department.
- (5) Where the dissertation topic selected is from Accounting and Finance, the student will be required to undertake the course Research Methodology in that department, unless the student is on an exchange programme in third year, in which case an alternate course, subject to the approval of the Head of Department, shall be agreed.

- (6) Where the dissertation topic selected is from Law, the student may be required to undertake a course in Research Methodology in that department, unless the student is on an exchange programme, in which case an alternate course, subject to the approval of the Head of Department, may be agreed.

Total	120

A total of 480 credits is required for the Honours degree.

30. A full-time candidate for the degree with Honours shall complete courses of study extending over at least four sessions, of which courses of study in two sessions shall be at the Honours standard.

Where an Honours prescription permits a candidate in the Junior Honours year to take a course of study at a University abroad approved by the Senate, such a period of study of one session shall, in the case of full-time students only, be counted as one of these two sessions.

31. (1) Before admission to Senior Honours a student shall have accumulated a minimum of 280 credits from qualifying courses in Lists A, B and C awarded at grade D or better. The qualifying courses shall be selected from those listed in Regulation 2 and shall include all List A courses.
- (2) A student who transfers from another Faculty to undertake a degree with Honours will be required to have passed all courses in List A and passes from List B, or equivalents, of at least 60 credits. The Regulations should be satisfied in all other respects.
- (3) A candidate who has satisfactorily completed the whole of his or her Junior Honours courses but who is not for whatever reason awarded an Honours degree shall be awarded an Ordinary Degree.

32. The Faculty will ensure that students are informed of the standard of performance which guarantees an offer of admission to Honours in a particular programme. Any other student will be offered admission if the Faculty judges that the student's previous performance offers a reasonable prospect of the student reaching the required standard in the Honours programme. However, depending on student demand, class size may have to be limited and admission of students not achieving the guarantee requirements is subject to the availability of places in the class. In relation to List E, admission to Honours does not imply admission to any particular course. Students must apply for admission to individual courses in accordance with the instructions issued by the School of Law. Admission to a particular course cannot be guaranteed even for students who satisfy the minimum admission requirements. In the case of a student refused admission to Honours, the appropriate Head of Department will inform the student's Adviser of Studies. A student may appeal to the Faculty Appeals Committee against such refusal of admission.
33. A candidate for the degree with Honours shall normally present himself or herself for examination immediately upon completion of the prescribed courses. However, the appropriate Head of Department may, at his or her discretion and on grounds of illness or other good cause shown, permit a candidate to delay taking his or her final Honours examination for not more than one year.
34. (1) There shall be three classes of Honours, but the examiners may, at their discretion, divide the second class into two divisions.
(2) A candidate for the degree with Honours who has completed the degree examinations and has failed to be placed in any class, may be recommended for the award of the Pass Degree of Bachelor of Financial and Legal Studies. Any such recommendation shall be made by the Honours examiners concerned, who shall take into account the performance of the candidate in the Final Honours examinations and his/her course work in the Junior and Senior Honours Classes.

SCHOOL OF LAW

V DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF LAWS

The Degree of LLB is be governed by a Resolution No. 457 of the University Court which came into force on 20th May 1998 and whose provisions are as follows:

1. The degree of Bachelor of Laws (LLB) may be conferred by the University of Glasgow as an Ordinary degree, or as a degree with Honours in such subjects as may be prescribed by regulations.
2. (a) The period of study for the Ordinary degree shall normally be three academical years and for the Honours degree shall normally be four academical years.

(b) Up to one year of the relevant period of study may be undertaken elsewhere than in the University of Glasgow. Up to one further year of study may be undertaken elsewhere in terms of a formal agreement approved by the Senatus Academicus (the Senate) on the recommendation of the Faculty of Law and Financial Studies (the Faculty) and such study may be treated as study in the University of Glasgow. In all cases where study has been taken elsewhere for the degree with Honours the final Honours examination must be taken in the University of Glasgow.

(c) The period of study may be reduced in respect of study undertaken for another degree of the University of Glasgow or in another university or institution of higher or further education recognised for the purpose by the University Court.
3. The examiners for the degree shall be the persons in the University of Glasgow who conduct courses qualifying towards the degree and such additional examiners as the University Court may appoint.
4. The Senate may with the consent of the University Court make regulations governing the award of the degree.
5. Any LLB graduate of the University of Glasgow or of another Scottish university who has attended a course offered in the Faculty additional to the courses taken in his or her graduating curriculum and obtained a course certificate therein may take the relevant degree examination and if he or she satisfies the examiners shall be entitled to receive a certificate to that effect.
6. Resolution No. 347 of the University Court is hereby repealed.

REGULATIONS General1. Period of Study – Normal and Special Cases*(a) Study in the University of Glasgow

A candidate for the degree of LLB (a candidate) shall study in the University of Glasgow full-time for a minimum period of three years in the case of the Ordinary degree and for a minimum period of four years in the case of the Honours degree, subject to the provisions of the following sub-sections.

A candidate for the degree of LLB must normally satisfy the minimum requirements for the award of the degree within five years in the case of the Ordinary degree, and within six years in the case of the Honours degree.

(b) Study Elsewhere

A candidate may pursue up to one year of study at another university or institution of higher or further education recognised for the purpose by the University Court and receive credit towards the degree by recognition of attendance on courses taken or by recognition of examinations passed as equivalent to attendance on or examinations passed for specified courses for the degree as determined by the Faculty of Law and Financial Studies (the Faculty).

(c) Study Elsewhere in Terms of a Formal Agreement

Where an approved formal agreement providing for study elsewhere exists candidates may count study in terms of such an agreement for up to one year as study in the University of Glasgow according to the terms of the agreement. The agreement may provide for the recognition of attendance on courses or of examination passes or both.

(d) Reduction in the Period of Study

In considering applications for reduction of the period of study for the degree, which reduction shall normally be not more than one year, the Faculty may recognise examination passes in the University of Glasgow or another university or institution of higher or further education as equivalent to specified examination passes for the LLB to a normal maximum of one third of the requirements for the Ordinary degree or may require a person seeking reduction to pass a further examination as a condition of granting the reduction sought or may recognise attendance on courses elsewhere as qualifying to sit the relevant examination for the LLB.

Candidates for the degree of LLB who have transferred into the Faculty from another Faculty within the University of Glasgow or from a Faculty other than a Faculty of Law in another University or Institution of Higher or Further Education may apply under this Regulation for recognition of passes already obtained. However, save in exceptional cases as approved by Faculty, such candidates will not in addition be eligible for a reduction in the minimum period of study.

(e) Applications

Applications to study elsewhere or to study in terms of an approved formal agreement, for credit in respect of such study and for reduction of the period of study must be made in writing to the Senior Adviser of Studies with supporting evidence where relevant of the attendance given or examinations passed. Written notification of the result of the application will be given and only such written notification may be relied on as evidence that the application has been granted.

Any student who undertakes study elsewhere or in terms of a formal agreement without such written notification of approval shall be deemed to be absent without leave and shall not normally be entitled to credit in respect of such study.

2. Approval of Curriculum

The curriculum of every candidate and any changes in that curriculum must be approved by an Adviser of Studies.

3. Conditions of Study

- (a) During the minimum period of study required for graduation by a candidate that candidate may not undertake any professional training or other occupation without the approval of the Faculty.
- (b) Candidates may not attend courses outwith their curriculum in another Faculty without the permission of the Faculty.
- (c) Candidates are required to comply with instructions issued or approved by the course convener or co-ordinator relating to such matters as attendance at specified lectures, tutorials, laboratory or practical sessions, field courses, examinations and other events, the provision of necessary books, equipment and other materials for courses, submission of items of work such as essays, dissertations and project reports by particular dates. Such instructions must be given in writing at the beginning of the course concerned and reasonable notice of any alteration must be given.

4. Course Certificates

Grant of a course certificate entitling candidates to take degree examinations is conditional on regular attendance on and due performance of the work of the relevant course in accordance with departmental instructions. Course certificates in the Faculty are normally valid for the diets of examination in the academical year in which they were granted and the next succeeding academical year but

- (a) on cause shown their validity may be extended by the Faculty;
- (b) candidates who are required to repeat attendance in terms of progress requirements are normally required to re-attend courses in which they have failed the examination even although they may have a valid course certificate;

- (c) the validity of course certificates in courses for the LLB offered in another Faculty is determined by the regulations of that Faculty; and
- (d) all course certificates held by a candidate cease to be valid if the candidate is required to discontinue study for the degree.

5. Progress in Studies

- (a) Where a candidate fails to make adequate progress in studies as defined below the Faculty may:
 - (i) require the candidate to discontinue study for the degree;
 - (ii) suspend the candidate from further attendance on courses for a period;
 - (iii) require the candidate to repeat any year of study and to repeat attendance on any courses in which the candidate has a course certificate but has not been awarded a passing grade.
- (b) A candidate will normally be required to discontinue study if:
 - (i) in any year of study except the first he or she has not accumulated at least 60 credits at grade D or above in that academical year; or
 - (ii) he or she has not accumulated the following numbers of credits at grade D or above:

after one year of study	45 credits
after two years of study	120 credits
after three years of study	210 credits
after four years of study	300 credits

- (c) A candidate will normally be required to repeat any year of study if he or she has not accumulated the following numbers of credits at grade D or above:

after one year of study	75 credits
after two years of study	180 credits
after three years of study	270 credits

- (d) Where a candidate might be required to repeat a year of study under paragraph (c), he or she may instead be suspended at his or her own request. The Faculty may impose such conditions on suspension as it considers fit, and a suspended candidate shall normally be readmitted on application if he or she has satisfied those conditions. A candidate who has been suspended will be readmitted to the year of study which Faculty considers appropriate in view of their performance since beginning study for the degree.

- (e) Every candidate must normally obtain the Certificate of Basic IT Competence in his or her first year of study in order to progress to subsequent years.

6. Appeals

- (a) Appeal against application of the progress regulations may be made to the Faculty Appeals Committee in writing. The appeal should normally be received by the Faculty Clerk at least five days before the published date of the Appeals Committee meeting and must include the grounds of the appeal. The appellant may be accompanied at the hearing of the appeal by an Adviser of Studies or some other appropriate person. The Committee's Code of Procedure is available from the Faculty Office.
- (b) Appeals against decisions of the School of Law or the Faculty on other matters affecting a candidate should be made to the Faculty Appeals Committee in accordance with the procedure set out in the University Calendar.

ORDINARY DEGREE

7. Minimum Requirements of Degree

The minimum requirements for the award of the degree are expressed in terms of the subjects taken, the level of the courses, and the credits accumulated.

8. Curriculum and Grade Point Average

To be awarded the Ordinary degree, a candidate must:

- (a) have accumulated 360 credits, of which at least 210 must be for subjects in Group A;
- (b) have obtained at least 300 credits at grade D or above;
- (c) have obtained grade D or above in all the subjects listed as compulsory for the degree in regulation 10;
- (d) have obtained at least 120 credits for subjects at level 2 or above, and at least 60 credits for subjects at level 3;
- (e) have a grade point average of at least 10.

A candidate who has been admitted to Honours may elect to graduate with an Ordinary Degree. Where such a candidate has completed satisfactorily the work of any honours courses, he or she may after examination be awarded 30 credits at level 3 or 4 for each course up to a maximum of 60 credits.

9. Grade Point Average and Degree With Distinction

- (a) A candidate's assessed performance in each course shall be expressed in terms of the following grades. The following grade points shall be awarded for the purposes of calculating a grade point average:

Grade	Grade Descriptor	Grade points (per credit)
A	excellent	16
B	very good	14
C	good	12
D	satisfactory	10
F	poor	6
G	very poor	2
–	no course certificate	0

- (b) The grade points awarded for performance in each course shall be the product of the grade points per credit and the credit value of that course. For example, an A grade in a 30 credit course shall be worth 480 grade points.
- (c) The grade point average shall be: the sum of grade points awarded divided by the total number of credits accumulated.
- (d) Credit will only be awarded for performance at grade G or above.
- (e) The grade point average shall be calculated on the basis of all courses in which the candidate has obtained credit. However, where a candidate has accumulated more than 360 credits, the grade point average shall be based on those courses (totalling at least 360 credits) in which the candidate has achieved the highest grades.
- (f) A candidate shall normally be required to sit any end of course examination at the first available diet. A candidate who has a course certificate but who does not attend an examination shall not be given a grade, and will be awarded no grade points for that course in respect of that diet of examination. Where a candidate is excused from attendance at the first available diet of examination for medical reasons or other good cause, the next diet shall be treated as the first available diet.
- (g) A candidate who is awarded a grade of D or better after the first diet of assessment will not normally be allowed to resit an end of course examination or other summative assessment. Any other candidate entitled to sit the end of course examination or other summative assessment shall be entitled to resit the examination or assessment at the next available diet, provided he or she has a course certificate. The grade awarded as the result of the resit examination or assessment will be no higher than a grade D and no lower than the original result.

However, a candidate who is entitled to resit an end of course examination or assessment and, for the purpose of completing in that year of study a graduating curriculum for the degree, requires an improved result after the first diet of assessment, may be awarded any grade A-G or no grade, provided that the result shall be no lower than the original result. This provision will extend to courses totalling no more than 60 credits.

- (h) Where a candidate is exempted from a degree examination under Regulation 11(d) at less than Grade A, he or she may, nonetheless, attempt the end-of-course examination. Where the two results differ, the candidate will be awarded the higher.
- (i) The Ordinary degree may be awarded with Distinction where the candidate has achieved a GPA of 14 or better or with Merit where the candidate has achieved a GPA of at least 12 but less than 14.

10. Courses and Credits

- (a) The courses available for study in the Ordinary degree fall into the two groups listed below. The Faculty shall specify the prerequisites for entry to each of the courses in Group A. Further details of these courses including the timetable, shall be published from time to time by the Faculty.
- (b) A candidate is entitled to be admitted to any course which is compulsory for the degree, provided he or she satisfies the prerequisites for entry. Where a course is not compulsory, admission is at the discretion of the course co-ordinator, whose discretion must be exercised in accordance with any published criteria.
- (c) With the approval of Faculty where credit has been given for courses taken in other universities or institutions of higher or further education recognised for the purpose by the University Court, such courses may be substituted for those courses in Group A which Faculty regards as equivalent and an appropriate number of credits awarded.
- (d) A candidate may be given up to 30 credits for satisfactory performance of programmes of work which are not credit-bearing courses. Such programmes must be approved by the Faculty and may include participation in mooting, research, assistance with academic research, placements with employers and organisations outwith the University, and other appropriate activities. A candidate must have the approval of his or her Adviser of Studies for admission to such a programme. Faculty shall make arrangements for the approval of programmes and for the scrutiny of approval by Advisers of Studies.
- (e) The courses available for study in the Ordinary degree and their credit values and levels are shown below:

Group C

All courses available for the degree in the BAcc in the Faculty, or courses available in other Faculties.'

11. Compulsory Courses and Order of Study

- (a) A candidate for the Ordinary degree shall normally take courses in the order below, but a variation may be approved by an Adviser of Studies, and will normally be approved in the case of a graduate intending to complete the degree in two years. The courses named below are compulsory for the degree:

First Year

Criminal Law
Family Law
Legal Systems
Obligations
Public Law I

Second Year

European Law
Jurisprudence
Public Law II.

- (b) A candidate will normally take courses with 120 credits in total in each of the first two years of study. In the third year, the candidate will normally take courses worth at least 90 credits in total.

12. Degree Examinations and Exemption Therefrom

- (a) Examinations shall be based on the syllabus of each course as issued to candidates by the course co-ordinators responsible for offering the course.
- (b) The forms and methods of examination shall be prescribed by course co-ordinators with the approval of the Faculty, and shall be issued to the candidates by course co-ordinators. However, additional oral examinations may be held at the discretion of the examiners. A candidate shall be entitled to attempt any end of course examination at two diets in an academical year.
- (c) The standards of examination are fixed by the Faculty in the case of subjects in Group A or by the Faculty in which a course is offered in the case of subjects in Group B.
- (d) Candidates whose performance in work prescribed for any course has been sufficiently meritorious may be exempted by the examiners from the relevant degree examination in accordance with a scheme approved by the relevant additional examiner(s) and notified to the Faculty.
- (e) Assessment shall be conducted in accordance with the prevailing Code for Examinations, published in the 'Fees and General Information' section of the University Calendar.

HONOURS DEGREE

13. Honours Subjects

Candidates for the Degree with Honours shall profess either (i) single Honours in law; (ii) Honours in law with French, German, Spanish, or Italian ('law with language'); (iii) Honours in law with European legal studies; (iv) joint Honours in law and another subject approved by the Board of Studies for the LLB.

- (a) Candidates for the Degree with single Honours in law shall (i) study five courses taken from the list of law honours courses in Schedule 1, and (ii) submit a dissertation in law.
- (b) Candidates for the Degree with Honours in law with French, German, Spanish or Italian shall study (i) two of the law courses listed in Schedule 1; (ii) two of the language courses listed in Schedule 2; and (iii) two approved courses in law taken during the period of residence abroad.
- (c) Candidates for the Degree with Honours in law with European legal studies shall (i) study three of the courses listed in Schedule 1; (ii) submit a dissertation in law; and (iii) study two approved courses in law during their period of residence abroad. Further provision for the degree with honours in law with European legal studies is made by Schedule 3.
- (d) Candidates for joint Honours in law and another subject shall (i) study three of the courses listed in Schedule 1; (ii) submit a dissertation; and (iii) complete the programme of study approved by the LLB Board of Studies for that other subject.

In addition, candidates for the Degree with Honours shall attend such other courses of instruction as may be prescribed by the Faculty, which may make satisfactory performance in such courses a condition of progress in studies.

Fuller details of the courses listed in Schedule 1, including syllabi, admission requirements, and timetable are published annually and are available from the School of Law Office. Subject to admission requirements, courses may be taken in either the Junior or Senior Honours year.

14. Admission to Honours

- (a) Candidates for admission to Honours law must apply in accordance with the instructions issued by the School of Law. Any candidate who is refused admission to Honours study may appeal to the Faculty Appeals Committee. Candidates for admission to joint Honours in law and philosophy, economics, politics or business economics must apply in accordance with the instructions issued by the relevant department.
- (b) From time to time the School of Law will prescribe a minimum GPA for admission to Honours and the date at which it is calculated. A candidate shall not normally be admitted unless he or she has achieved the minimum GPA and has achieved a grade of D or better in all the courses which are compulsory for the degree.

- (c) Admission to Honours does not imply admission to any particular course. Students must apply for admission to individual courses in accordance with the instructions issued by the School of Law. Admission to a particular course cannot be guaranteed even for students who satisfy the minimum admission requirements. Where there are more applicants for particular courses than there are places available, selection of students will be based on published criteria.
- (d) A candidate may proceed into Senior Honours only if he or she has satisfactorily completed the work of her or his Junior Honours courses.

15. Curriculum

- (a) To be awarded an Honours Degree, a candidate must
 - (i) have accumulated at least 480 credits, of which 180 must have been awarded after assessment of performance in the Honours courses and dissertation prescribed for study by regulation 13;
 - (ii) have satisfied the minimum requirements for the award of the Ordinary Degree specified in regulation 8.
- (b) Studies in law undertaken during a period abroad may be granted recognition for the Ordinary degree in Law and also be recognised as the equivalent of Honours courses, at the discretion of the Faculty.
- (c) All Honours courses shall be assigned a value of 30 credits at either level 3 or 4.

16. Honours Assessment

(a) Assessment of Taught Courses

Honours courses will normally be assessed by written examination. The written papers must normally be taken at a single diet of examinations at the end of the Senior Honours Year ('the final Honours examination'), except for examinations taken during any period of residence abroad. The examiners at their discretion may further examine candidates orally. An extended essay may form part of the written assessment of any course, and a dissertation may be the sole method of assessment, provided that the essay or dissertation is set in accordance with a scheme which has the prior approval of Faculty. No candidate may submit more than one dissertation (apart from the compulsory dissertation referred to in regulation 11). All such dissertations and essays must be submitted by the end of the Candlemas term in the year in which the final Honours examination is taken.

(b) Assessment of Compulsory Dissertation

The dissertation referred to in regulation 11 shall be examined according to the usual criteria for Honours examinations.

- (c) Honours are awarded in three classes but the second class may be divided into upper and lower divisions. A candidate who has not been placed in any class may be recommended by the examiners for the award of an Ordinary degree.
- (d) The standard of the Honours examinations and the criteria for distinguishing the classes and divisions shall be recommended by the Faculty to Senate for approval.
- (e) In assessing candidates' performance for the purpose of the award of Honours the examiners shall have regard to the merit of their performance in the Honours examination, and may also have regard to the merit of their performance in the remainder of the graduating curriculum.
- (f) No candidate who has taken the final Honours examination at any diet may subsequently retake the examination in the same subject or subjects without the permission of the Senate.
- (g) Assessment shall be conducted in accordance with the prevailing Code for Examinations, published in the 'Fees and General Information' section of the University Calendar.
